Moses' Treasure Code Cracked!

Robert D. Pace

Moses conveyed a cryptic blessing upon Israel four thousand years ago designed for fulfillment in the "last days." In Genesis and Deuteronomy, Moses predicted that Israel would discover "blessings from the deep" (Genesis 49:25) and "treasures hidden in the sand" (Deuteronomy 33:19). When you cross-reference these passages, it becomes evident that these fortunes regard Israel's eventual discovery of energy resources.

It's ironic that in the 1960s, Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir said, "Moses dragged us for 40 years through the wilderness to the one place in the Middle East where there was no oil." But, since the 2000s, Israeli geologists have continued oil exploration, and their discoveries have been astounding:

(a) Geologists initially discovered 65 million barrels in Central Israel.

(b) However, a year later, they realized their estimate was mistaken and that it was closer to 100 million barrels of oil.

(c) However, a few months later, the geologists discovered one billion barrels of oil.

(d) But the most stunning news is what happened in 2012. This is when geologists discovered not a billion barrels of oil but 266 billion barrels of oil, which is equivalent to the shale reserves of Saudi Arabia.

Today, facts confirm the Bible is accurate, and Moses' prophecy has seen fulfillment; "treasures hidden in the sand" have been unearthed! And today, it appears that Israel's crude oil sites will surpass the shale reserves of Saudi Arabia, the world's largest oil-producing nation!

However, in Deuteronomy 33:19, Moses also predicted that Israel would discover an enriching "abundance from the sea." What did Moses mean here? Well, the western coast of Israel is the Mediterranean Sea. And it's not coincidental that in 2006, Israeli geologists discovered 122 trillion cubic feet of natural gas in the Mediterranean Sea. After several years of building Gas Platforms and pipelines, Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu announced on March 30, 2013, that Israel had begun pumping gas from the Mediterranean onto its mainland.

Finally, after 4000 years, Moses' treasure code has been cracked! Israel has its "treasures hidden in the sand" and its "abundance from the sea." And this tiny nation is fast on its way to becoming energy-independent.

There is little doubt that these are the natural resources the Prophet Ezekiel sees as the focal point of the Battle of Gog of Magog. But the Lord has a surprise awaiting Gog and his confederation. And it's one that will shake the foundations of the world. The Battle of Gog and Magog, as described in the Bible in graphic detail, is nearing fulfillment. And as you understand its many secrets, you'll discover it is unquestionably the linchpin of all last-hour prophecies. You can find out more by ordering the Studio DVD production entitled "The Amazing Secrets of the Battle of Gog and Magog." It's on the media page of RevelationCentral.com.

PulpitToday.org

Resourcing Pastors for the Pulpit